

Dear Helen,

July 31, 1967

It's long past time when I should have written - your letter, dated May 3.

Since then you've become Grandma Jewell, a grand sounding title! I hope Laura Lynn is well and, if necessary, gaining. Just re-read your letter - the Russell and family are now due for a month's vacation which no doubt will be spent with you and Sam's family.

Summer sessions at colleges are meaning their close - so for thinking you and Bob are about ready to receive their master degrees. I've heard a doctorate is not any more arduous than the one for masters. The boys are fortunately being able to remain at school. So far, and I hope they will be allowed to continue this year for doctorates. Hope Don is to continue at Columbia in his doctorate. Congratulations to both of them for training master degrees.

I recall you fondly, the Russells
